Thirtieth Anniversary Annual General Meeting

Saturday 22 November 2014 in the Woburn Suite of Senate House, University of London

Secretary's note:
This version of the AGM booklet contains the final version of the accounts (pp11-14).

OBJECTS AND ORGANISATION OF THE SOCIETY

As set out in the Society's constitution adopted in November 2002, the objects of the Army Records Society are to edit and publish manuscripts relating to the Army and to reprint works of military interest.

The Society is managed by a voluntary Council which meets twice a year.

SPONSORSHIPS & BEQUESTS

The Society has a healthy list of volumes under commission and would like to increase the tempo of publication. However, we are held back by the limits of our current funds and would therefore be most grateful for any additional assistance.

Perhaps you would like to sponsor a volume under commission, or make a modest contribution to the overall cost? Maybe you would like to support a future publication related to a particular part of the army, historical period, or region? There might also be an organisation that you think would like to support us in this way? Or you might want to make a bequest to the society in your will?

All such contributions will be acknowledged, if you wish, within the relevant volume. If you can help us, please get in touch with the Secretary to discuss a way forward.

MINUTES OF THE THIRTIETH ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

Held at 1700 on Wednesday 20 November 2013 at the National Army Museum.

1. Apologies. Seventeen members and one guest attended the meeting. Apologies were received from a further five.

2. Minutes of the Twenty-Ninth Annual General Meeting. On the proposition of Professor David French, seconded by Lieutenant-General Sir Alistair Irwin, the minutes of the previous Annual General Meeting were approved.

3. Matters Arising. None.

4. Secretary's Report. The Secretary articulated the Council's gratitude for the donation, facilitated by Dr Robin Mactaggart, from the Mr & Mrs William Donald Memorial Trust. Their financial assistance had contributed to the publication of our latest volume. He then explained that Dr Matthew Seligmann's Military Intelligence from Germany, 1906-1914 would be the society's 2014 volume. He expressed the Council's gratitude to Dr Seligmann for stepping in at short-notice to fill an unanticipated gap in the 'batting order'. After outlining the plans for the 'enhanced' 2014 AGM, the Secretary announced his intention, already declared to the Council, to step down by March 2016.

5. Treasurer's Report. The Treasurer offered some additional explanatory remarks to supplement his written report and answered questions from members. This covered the accumulation of funds for an imminent second volume, the changes in accounting classification of postage and packaging, and the recording of subscription income received in September. He also summarised the profile and fluctuations of the two halves of our investment portfolio. On the proposition of Dr Jonathan Boff, seconded by Colonel Hugh Boscawen, the accounts were accepted.

6. Election of Councillors. The Chairman began by noting the sterling contribution over many years made by Roderick Suddaby who had sadly passed away this year. Thanks were then extended to the departing Councillors (Professor Stephen Conway, Dr Fiona Reid, Major-General Julian Thompson, Colonel Rupert Wieloch) for their work on behalf of the Society. Professor David French, Dr Spencer Jones, Dr Simon Robbins, and Dr Andrew Syk were nominated by Council for election to serve a full four-year term of office. On the proposition of Dr Huw Bennett, seconded by Colonel Hugh Boscawen, the new Councillors were elected unanimously.

7. Any Other Business. The Secretary passed on a report from the Membership Secretary detailing his dissemination of surplus volumes and bookmarks to regimental museums, universities, and academic conferences. He also reported that overall membership numbers have remained static.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Recent Volume
This year members have received the following volume:

Military Intelligence from Germany, 1906-1914
edited by Dr Matthew Seligmann

Forthcoming Volumes
The Council has decided that the 2015 volume will be:

The Diary of Corporal Vince Schürhoff, 1914-1918

edited by Dr Jim Beach

The Society has the following volumes currently under commission:

Sir John French's Command Diaries
edited by Professor William Philpott.

Jack Churchill, 1899-1919
edited by John Lee.

The Papers of General Pierre des Vallières, French Liaison Officer to British GHQ, 1916-1917 edited by Dr Elizabeth Greenhalgh.

The Military Papers of Major-General JFC Fuller, 1916-1933
edited by Dr Alaric Searle.

The Papers and Correspondence of Henry Spenser Wilkinson, 1881-1933 edited by Paul Ramsey

The Duke of Cumberland
edited by Jonathan Oates

Suspensions of Membership
It has come to the attention of the Council that some members are taking a 'pick and mix' approach to their annual membership; in some years deciding not to renew and then re-joining a year later. The Council is saddened by this development. The society relies upon steady subscription income to fund our future publication programme. If all our members only 'bought in' occasionally, the society would cease to be viable. It is therefore hoped that members will keep up their subscriptions year-on-year and if they do not want to keep a particular volume, they will gift it to a friend or a library.

Dr J M Beach MBE
Honorary Secretary

TREASURER'S REPORT

At the time of going to press, the annual accounts were still subject to independent examination, so the figures included in this report, although complete, are provisional. The final, approved accounts will be available for the AGM, and I will verbally report on any changes requested by our auditor, although none are expected.

PROFIT AND LOSS
Overall income fell by £3.2k (from £19.3k to £16.1k).

Subscriptions (which constitute over half of our income) fell by just £113, the equivalent of four or five members, which is in line with membership numbers. Book sales fell by £558, a return to normal activity after last year's push for extra sales by members of the Council. Dividends fell by £505, a product of fluctuating market forces. But the large reduction was of £1,970 in 'Miscellaneous' income: last year there was a one-off £1,000 donation as well as a £1,070 profit from the sale of investments.

Costs actually fell slightly (by £42) compared to last year. The cost of printing and publishing this year's volume was £1,359 less than last year, thanks to a well-negotiated unit price and a slightly slimmer volume. This was offset by a £1,335 increase in the cost of organising next month's AGM which, being our Centenary Event, involves more expensive room hire and refreshments. As these two more or less balance each other out, the slight overall reduction can be put down to reduced post and packaging, consequent upon lower book sales.

Profit/Loss for the Year (called 'Net Incoming Resources before revaluation of Investments' these days) was a loss of £2,783, compared with a profit of £329 in the previous year. However this net outgoing was more than compensated for by a £4044 increase in the value of our investments. The monetary value of the Society therefore increased by £1,261.

BALANCE SHEET
The Barclays bank account shows a healthy £29,654 balance, with a further £4,663 in our Savings account, giving a total cash balance of £34,317 compared to £36,955 last year. As members will recall, we increased our cash holdings last year in the anticipation of producing an extra volume; this has not been possible and as a result we are holding far too much cash than is needed for everyday affairs. The Council has instructed me to purchase £10,000 of new investments from our two existing Investment Companies, M&G and Black Rock; I will be doing this shortly. Creditors and pre-paid income remain constant at about £21.8k. The net result is an Accumulated Fund of £126,727, a 1% increase on last year.

INVESTMENTS
All the Society's investments remain in common investment funds regulated by the Charities Act. Members will see from the schedule of investments that the market value of the investments on the balance sheet is greater than original cost. Market values continue to show modest in both Funds, with M&G Charifund showing 5.1% growth and Black Rock Charinco a more modest 0.5% growth. Overall the increase in market value of £4,044 represents a 3.7% year-on-year growth.

STOCK
The Society holds a stock of books to service the demand for back volumes, which is an important part of its role in bringing records to the public. Measures are in hand at Council to optimise the holdings of individual back-volumes; this should result in a reduced but adequate holding, and reduced storage costs in future. The cost of books is written off as incurred, and therefore no value is carried on the Balance Sheet.

THE CHARITIES ACT
The Charities Act 1993 provides that charities with income or expenditure between £10,000 and £250,000 must have either an audit or an independent examination. An independent examination is a less onerous form of scrutiny than an audit and provides less assurance. However the Councillors believe that the Society's affairs are so straightforward that an independent examination provides Councillors and Members with sufficient comfort on the Charity's financial affairs. This work continues to be carried out by Lesley Pasricha FCA.

NEW TREASURER
After five years in office I feel it is time for me to stand down, so I have presented my resignation to Council. I recommend Mr Tim Halstead, a friend and colleague, qualified accountant, professional Risk Assessment manager and fellow-historian, as my successor.

Accounting policies

The officers of The Army Records Society have elected, as permitted for a charity of its size, under section 42(3) of the Charities Act 1993 to present its financial accounts on a receipts and payments basis. Provision is however made in creditors for expenses incurred in respect of the year but not paid by the year end, and for subscriptions received before the year end in respect of the subsequent membership year. Investments are shown at cost. Stock, which consists of the Society's publications, is written off as it is purchased.

Reserves policy

The Society's policy is to maintain sufficient reserves (funds not committed) to cover the costs of publishing 3 volumes and the associated costs of administration. On current performance (about £15k per volume) this represents about 45% of the Society's accumulated fund.

Secretary's note:
The draft accounts above were circulated in advance of the AGM but before the independent examiner's report had been received. As the Treasurer explained at the AGM, she raised a number of minor issues which required amendments to the accounts. These were circulated in hardcopy to the meeting and are reproduced below in this version of the booklet, along with an explanatory note from the outgoing Treasurer.

YEAR ENDED 30 SEPTEMBER 2014

Our External Auditor has requested some changes to the provisional figures submitted to her, which have been incorporated into this report. The attached Profit & Loss Account, and Balance Sheet are the final, approved accounts are submitted to the AGM, with explanations for the changes.

I must emphasise that all the changes pertain to the Provisions that I make to account for anticipated future liabilities, and NOT to the basic Cash Book, which has been audited and approved without change.

1 Change to Income
Our Auditor has asked me to move £691 of subscription income from this year into next year.

The reason for this is that our Accounting Year ends on 30 September, whereas the Bank Statement for September included the first three days of October. So the monies received on those three days has been moved, and will form part of next year's income.

2 Change to Expenditure
Our Auditor has asked me to reduce the amount that I have provided for future liabilities, by £2738.

This year our Auditor (for the first time) made a thorough investigation into the provisions that I make for future liabilities, and concluded that I had been overly cautious in providing too much for certain potential events. There are five items that I have agreed to change, all for similar reasons:

(i) I had provided for an expected invoice from Hall McCartney for publication expenses, and I provided for more than I have done in the past; I have accepted that it is probably too high, so have reduced it by £250.

(ii) Last year I acted on the assumption that we would produce a second volume this year, and provided an amount of £2300 in anticipation of the extra cost of post & packaging. Since we have not been able to do the second volume, our Auditor asked me to remove the provision, which has the effect of reducing the account to zero - because I have not yet received the invoice for the annual volume. I will be paying for the posting of this year's volume when I receive the invoice from History Press, and the figure will appear in next year's accounts.

(iii) The provision that I made for the quarterly administration invoice from Hall McCartney (not yet received) was considered too high, so I have agreed to reduce it by £139.

(iv) I had provided for the potential refund of two member's subscriptions, but based on recent history I have agreed to reduce it to one (£25).

(v) I have accepted that there is no longer any need to provide for unforeseen "Sundry" expenses, and have therefore removed a provision of £24 from this years account.

The sum of these changes is (because of the reductions in expenditure provisions) that our Loss this year has reduced by £2046, from a loss of £2783 to a loss of just £737. This adjustment has to be carried through to the Balance Sheet, which records that one alteration on both sides, ie as an Increase in 'Net Movement of Funds' and a corresponding decrease in 'Current Liabilities.

All other figures remain unchanged.

The Cash Book reconciliation to our Bank Account has, as usual, been approved without change.

I apologise to Members if the above explanation appears somewhat technical. It is unusual for the Provisions to be so rigorously scrutinised, but it is of course no bad thing, and ensures that the new treasurer will inherit a truly well-audited set of books.

INDEPENDENT EXAMINER'S REPORT TO THE TRUSTEES OF THE ARMY RECORDS SOCIETY

I report on the accounts of the Charity for the year ended 30 September 2014 which are set out on the attached schedules.

Respective responsibilities of trustees and examiner:
The Charity's trustees consider that an audit is not required for this year (under section 43(2) of the Charities Act 1993 (the Act), as amended by s.28 of the Charities Act 2006) and that an independent examination is needed.
It is my responsibility to:

Examine the accounts (under section 43(7)(b) of the Act, as amended;

Follow the procedures laid down in the General Directions given by the Charity Commission (under section 43(7)(b) of the Act, as amended); and State whether particular matters have come to my attention.

Basis of independent examiner's report:
My examination was carried out in accordance with the General Directions given by the Charity Commission. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the Charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts, and seeking explanations from the trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently I do not express an audit opinion on the view given in the accounts.

Independent examiner's statement:
In the course of my examination, no matter has come to my attention:

1. which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in any material respect the trustees have not met the requirements to ensure that:

   Proper accounting records are kept in accordance with section 41 of the Act; and

   Accounts are prepared which agree with the accounting records and comply with the accounting requirements of the Act; or

2. to which, in my opinion, attention should be drawn in order to enable a proper understanding of the accounts to be reached.
